PAY AS WE GO

What do you think of that policy, Mr. Taxpayer? There are not a few who believe that we should pay as we go in everything. Why not the city? In a short time our citizens would see the benefit of this policy. These are matters that affect the entire city, its growth and its future. What is your opinion, Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer?

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 15—While formal announcement of a complete agreement between Great Britain, the U. S. and Japan on a basis for the latter's acceptance of the 5-5-3 naval ratio awaits an adjustment of the technical details alone, the broad point of the Arms conference's negotiations appear to be shifting more and more today to the Far Eastern discussion, M. session was scheduled today for the Pacific-Eastern committee. The three men are alleged leaders of the gang of seven men who stormed the Breathitt County jail Friday at midnight in an effort to free four men. The attack led to a fight between the jail officers and the attacking party. Those killed and wounded were members of the jail staff, the raiders having escaped unwounded.

WOMEN TRYING TO STOP COAL OPERATIONS

Pittsburg, Kansas, Dec. 15.—While the state military authorities were mobilizing companies of the national guard, the militant women of the Kansas mining fields, adherents of Alexander Howatt, were engaged in the most ambitious campaign they had so far attempted to stop coal mining in coal mines by men who responded to the call of the International Union.

Sheriff Heard was besieged by the miners who wanted to work and were seeking protection from the hordes of women relatives and their friends, of strikers who for two days have battered workers and peace officers with rocks and clubs. The women were active again this morning when 150 men left the mine of the Central Coal and Coke Company. Except that they kept the men there was little excitement however.

In the Island of Jersey it is unlawful for a married woman to start a bank account without obtaining her husband's permission in writing.

LONDON STILL WORLD'S CENTER OF FINANCE

Manchester, Eng., Dec. 15.—New York is the principal free gold market and all the world owes her money but London still remains the world's financial center. This was the keynote of an address by O. T. Jones, chairman of the Manchester branch of the Institute of Bankers, delivered at a meeting of the Manchester branch of the Institute of Bankers last night.

"Although America has lost a certain amount of business to New York through the general drift of the world's trade from east to west and has come to give New York far greater prominence as a financial center than she had before the war, yet London's pre-war position has not been very seriously affected, nor must it be for a while," the speaker went on.

Referring to the tendency among banks to amalgamate, Mr. Jones observed that high banking authorities agreed that but for this consolidation movement British banks would not have been able to weather the storm. The inherent soundness of the British banking system, he considered, had stood the strain and no disaster had befallen it, comparable to the collapse of the Mercantile Bank of the Americas. For the next few years the course of British banking, he considered, would be rather in the direction of consolidating the position already won than of entering new fields.

"DO METALS GET TIRED"

New York, Dec. 15.—The question "do metals get tired?" which has puzzled scientists for hundreds of years is being studied here by a committee of the National Research Council with the aid of the Board of Engineering Foundation. The scientists have long known, without understanding exactly why, that every part in a vehicle, piece of tempered steel or steel forging will break down without apparent reason.

The solution of this question, engineers say, is watched with eagerness by American aviation experts seeking through the strengthening of all materials that go into the making of airplanes to make military flying as safe as possible.

The Air Service of the United States Army is negotiating for an extension of the research and it is possible that certain industries will support additional experiments to join those of the Bureau of Standards and members of the Engineering Foundation in the study of fatigue in metals.

Preliminary experiments have been made at the engineering experiment station of the University of Illinois by Professor H. F. Moore and a complete report of the research is soon to be published dealing with the limits of endurance of various metals under many repetitions of stress.

Manufacturers contributed test specimens of steel to the experiment and these, known quantities, were then subjected to millions of repetitions of changes of stress. Knowledge of great practical utility, according to the foundation, has emerged from the records of thousands of these observations.

MANY CHILDREN LEAVE SCHOOL UNEDUCATED

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 15.—Forty thousand children in Philadelphia between 14 and 16 years annually leave the city schools with such little fundamental education that the majority fall into roteless and dead-end jobs, declared a subcommittee of the industrial relations bureau of the local Chamber of Commerce which has completed a comprehensive study of industrial conditions.

The committee said that it is these children who swell the ranks of the discontented and who are usually the first to lose their positions in times of depression.

The return of the old style apprentice system or something akin to it is suggested by the committee as a solution to the problem.

LIMIT FLEET DISCHARGES

Washington, Dec. 15.—Enlisted men discharged from the Navy upon written request of the applicants will not be permitted to men on ships of the Atlantic fleet, according to the interpretation of the order issued by Vice Admiral Hilary P. Jones who states in the order issued to the thirteen ships that comprise the fleet, that commanders shall not discharge in excess of ten per cent of the men on board except by special order.

SKELETON FOUND IN VOLCANO WALL

Honolulu, T. H.—The skeleton of a young Kelley girl of the race of the pre-Hawaiians who lived within the goddess Pele, whose home was in the Kilauea volcano on the island of Hawaii, was found recently by a party of scientists exploring the south wall of the great crater of Kilauea.

The body was discovered in a lava tube, believed to be the sister tube of the one in which the skeleton of a young Kelley girl was found by the Thomas Expedition in 1919, when the royal Hawaiian Girl Guides journeyed to the volcano for the purpose of offering defiance to Pele. The agency formed the motif of one of Alice Cooper Tennyson's poems in which she pictured the girl as being "one of the last of her race who dwelt from the dawn of time in the mystic temple here, and from one of the royal families of Hawaii." It is believed by the scientists that the skeleton discovered recently is that of the priestess of the temple mentioned in the poem, who, according to the legend, was buried alive in the lava tube in which her body was found, so that her eyeless eyes would be the first to greet the newcomer in the underworld.

H. C. L. FILLS ENGLISH PRISONS

(By Associated Press)

London—Lower wages and a craze for liquor, a drug principally responsible for present day crimes in a report made by them to the home office, is filling crime has dwindled considerably during the past twenty years. The number of prisoners for the year 1920-21 was 19,212, or 1,925 more than in the previous year. The report, however, states that "no small increase in a year in which there has been much unemployment and industrial unrest is unlooked for."

The governor of Durham prison says:

"A new stamp of offender has now sprung into existence. Men and women of respectable antecedents and parentage, in reliable employment and in no respects associated with the criminal class, are taking to serious crime with astounding facility."

"The suggestion that a spirit of lawlessness engendered by men while on military service is responsible for this is rejected by the governor on the ground that women in equal proportion to men are the offenders. His explanation is that high wages once easily earned, and more easily spent, are now not obtainable."

When a Federal Bureau reminds you that children should not drink coffee or tea—
Why not think of your own health?

The Federal Bureau of Education includes in its rules to promote health among the Nation's school children, the warning that children should not drink coffee or tea.

The reason is well known. Coffee and tea contain drugs which stimulate and often over-excite the nerves, and corrupt health.

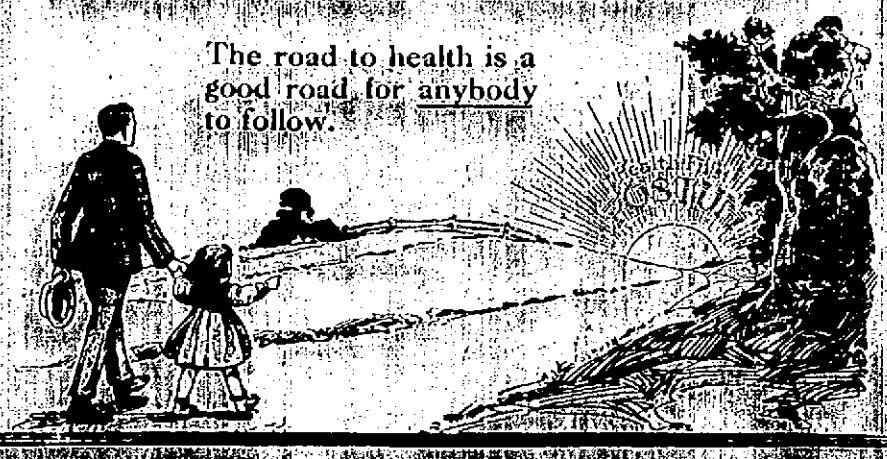
The harm is by no means confined to children, as any doctor can tell you.

If health is valuable to childhood, it is valuable always. If harm to health should be avoided until bodies grow up, is it worth taking a chance with health when bodies have grown up?

You can have that delicious and satisfying cereal beverage, Postum, with any meal and be safe—you and the children too. There's charm without harm in Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared, made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

The road to health is a good road for anybody to follow.



PARKS PETITIONS SECOND TIME FOR RELEASE FROM MAINE PRISON

Frank Parks serving a life sentence in the Thomaston State Prison for the murder of Mary Tarlton of Kittery in 1899, has petitioned the second time through his attorney, Frank H. Ingraham of Rockland, for a pardon. In his petition to the secretary of state, he says:

That said Frank L. Parks represents that he has no recollection of committing the crime for which he was committed—the murder of one Mary Tarlton, whose death, according to the evidence presented by the prosecution at the trial, was caused by an assault made upon her by him on the 23d day of January, 1899, from the effects of which she died the next day; that, at his trial, he set up the defense of insanity and he offered evidence tending to show that, at the time of said alleged assault, and before, he was suffering from a mental disease called "dipsomania"; that said disease manifested itself in an uncontrollable and overwhelming craving for intoxicating liquors; that he drank liquor on the day of said alleged assault, and while he had such mental disease and in consequence of it; that he drank so much liquor on that day, before committing the alleged assault, as alleged, he did not know what he was doing.

He further represents that, after the jury had found him guilty, his case was presented to the law court on his exceptions to a portion of the charge of the presiding justice, at the trial to the effect that, in order to establish a defense on the ground of insanity, the burden was on him to prove the fact of insanity by a preponderance of the evidence; that said law court overruled his exceptions on this point, which was the sole question before it.

He further represents that he pleaded not guilty at said trial and that he was not guilty because his condition was such at the time that he was not capable of committing the crime alleged and he was not then legally responsible for his acts; that at most he was only guilty of manslaughter and was not guilty of murder.

He further represents that he has been sufficiently punished and that his prison record has been good. That he has always endeavored to do right and to faithfully do his work since he has been in prison; that his health is not good; that he is now and will hereafter be a law-abiding citizen and that the ends of justice will be answered by a pardon or commutation of his sentence and that there are other good reasons therefore.

Your petitioner therefore respectfully asks that an early date may be assigned for a hearing upon his petition and that he may be granted a commutation of his sentence or a free conditional pardon, as to you may seem just and fit."

WILL REDUCE ENLISTED PERSONNEL

Washington, Dec. 15—The enlisted personnel of the navy will be reduced slightly by about 5000 men as a result of orders authorizing the discharge of many men on their own request, it was learned at the navy department Wednesday.

Commanding officers were instructed to give preference to men who have short hitches and to those holding ratings in which there is now an excess of men.

A few hours after the orders had been issued, yard officials were deluged with resignations coming from all classes of the enlisted service.

The reduction is necessary on account of the shortage of the appropriation for the pay of enlisted men for the remainder of the year, it was said at the department, and will take effect as soon as it is possible to make the discharges.

In the Atlantic fleet the reduction will affect about 3000 men, it was said, and in the Pacific fleet about 800. The aviation personnel will not be decreased by approximately 1200 men and the remainder will be distributed through various naval districts and shore stations. When the orders are executed there will remain about 59,000 men in the naval service, and officials said it may be necessary to operate some ships with less than 90 per cent of their full complement.

At present the navy department does not contemplate the removal of any ships from active service but a few ships may be laid up temporarily.

Secretary Wallace's Report.

In his annual report Secretary of Agriculture Wallace touches on various matters that have affected the farmers of the country unfavorably, but expresses the conviction that the worst is over and that there is reasonable ground for hope that there will be gradual improvement from now on. Says Mr. Wallace: "In large part the troubles of the farmer today are due to world-wide conditions and the inevitable results of the war, and it is not to be expected that by some miraculous transformation the period of adversity can be turned over night into a period of prosperity."

Among the things which have worked against the farmers for some time past the Secretary says are high freight rates, the high cost of production, unemployment in other industries which has lessened the buying power of the people and the lack of foreign markets for the surplus production. The two most important causes, he considers, are the lack of foreign markets and the freight rates. The latter, he says, while bearable in time of high prices, are bound, if continued to involve a "remaking of the American agricultural map." What he means by this is illustrated when he says that "the simple process of marking up the transportation cost a few cents on 100 pounds has the same effect of the surplus-producing state as picking it up and selling it down 100 to 300 miles farther from the market."

That is easy to understand, but as rates are liable to be reduced it is not to be believed that the hardship from this source will be permanent. Some relief has already been afforded and without doubt there will be more in due time. The railroad situation like that of the farmers cannot by some miraculous transformation "be turned over night from a period of adversity into a period of prosperity."

These are the chief hardships from which the western farmers have been and are still suffering, and there can be no doubt that they are very real. But the farmers and their friends must not forget that during the war they, in common with business men of all classes, had their innings, and that they had no right to expect the conditions which then prevailed to be permanent. The country is now working its way back to normal conditions and there is nothing to show that the farmers are suffering more than other classes of producers.

So far as high freight rates are concerned, these hit the western farmers harder than they hit those of New England. The latter are near the best markets in the country, many of them being so near that they sell largely direct to consumers, that is a tremendous advantage as this paper has before pointed out, and it is something to be taken into consideration when comparing the East with the West, as viewed from the farming standpoint. That the West has certain advantages no one questions, but when markets are considered the East has a clear lead. When crops here are shipped to market the haul is short, and there are thousands of farmers who deliver to consumers from their wagons or trucks and have no worry whatever over the question of freight rates.

But all in all there is no reasonable cause for worry over the problem of the farmers. The proportion of automobiles to the population in the western states does not indicate that many of the farmers are headed for the poorhouse. If times with them are not quite so flush as they were they have plenty of company in other lines of business, with which they can well afford to bide their time for the return of better conditions.

GRAFTORT CLUB XMAS PARTY

The Christmas social of the Grafort club proved a unique and enjoyable affair and nearly a hundred members of that organization were present at the Woman's Building on Middle street last evening to participate in the affair.

After the guests had arrived and pleasing greetings exchanged the festivities began, Miss Esther Graham, appropriately attired, took the title role of the Spirit of Christmas and came down the stairway and entered the assembly room, followed by others in costume of different lands, Mrs. Willis Rugg was a Polish woman, Misses Pamela Chapman and Madeline Paul, two English women, Miss Butler, Italian woman, Mrs. Harry Caswell, a Greek, Miss Mary Parlman, Swedish woman.

The Spirit of Christmas waved her magic wand and the company became children for the evening. Santa Claus, who was impersonated by Miss Helen Leighton, soon arrived and distributed gifts, these being toys, queer looking paper hats and gifts suitable for children. All entered into the spirit of the occasion and there was no end of fun. The club members were assisted in decorations some of the gifts they received and a grand march was a feature of the evening. Refreshments of assorted sandwiches, cake, coffee and cocoa were served by Mrs. Frank Mackenzie and Mrs. Boulter of the hospitality committee.

The lower floors of the Woman's Building were handsomely decorated for the Yule tide party in green and red. Miss Charles Badger and Mrs. Adam Clement were in general charge of the decorations which included Christmas trees handsomely trimmed. A group of club members rendered Christmas carols.

Miss Alice Abraham was in general charge of the arrangements of the affair.

REID—ALLEN

The marriage of Miss Wilhelmina Wallace Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, and Eugene C. Reid occurred at the residence of the bride's parents, 25 Richmond street, on Wednesday evening in the presence of many relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. J. R. Randolph, pastor of the People's Church, the single ring service being used.

Miss Christobel Harris rendered the wedding march as the bridal party entered the parlor. The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in white crepe de chine, with ribbon trimmings and carried a bouquet of bride roses.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Gustave M. Allen, who wore a gown of white georgette and carried pink carnations. The best man was Robert S. Anderson of this city.

Following the nuptials the newly wedded couple held an informal reception. A wedding lunch of chicken salad, rolls, olives, assorted cake, ice cream and fruit punch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid left this morning on their wedding trip and upon their return will reside in this city. The bride's traveling gown was of brown broadcloth fur trimmed and worn with hat of like shade. After the ceremony the bride threw her bouquet and it was caught by Miss Beatrice Tuley.

The couple received numerous wedding gifts, including sixty-five dollars in gold, and a variety of cut glass, silver and linen.

The bride attended a school in Washington and both bride and groom are popular with all her acquaintances. The groom is engaged in work on the new Memorial bridge.

DID YOU VISIT US?

A Well-Known Lawyer Did and Asked Some Interesting Service Questions.

"WHY," asked a well-known lawyer, who visited us during Long Telephone Week, "do I sometimes get connected to a line where two people already are talking?"

"I'll show you," said the operator doing escort duty.

Maybe others have had that annoying experience and would like to know the answer.

"That sort of thing shouldn't occur," replied the girl escort, "and wouldn't if the operator hadn't plugged over, as we call it, in other words, if she had tested the line to ascertain if it were busy. To do this, she simply touches the tip of the plug to the rim of the jack which marks the line called for. If this act, if the line is in use, causes a slight, electrical click in the receiver at her ear. She is thus told that the line is busy. It is not necessary that she should insert the plug in the jack. In fact, it is a violation of one of the cardinal rules of operating for her to complete it without making this preliminary test."

"But suppose someone else should be calling that number at the same time?" queried the visitor.

"It would make no difference if a dozen were calling and as many different operators were testing. Each would get this click in the ear, which means line is busy. Most of our switchboards are set up in sections and each section is a duplicate of the other. Thus, any number—123 for example—might be connected in two, five, ten, or even a hundred sections. Nevertheless, if any operator on any of these sections gets a call for 123 and tests the line in the way I have indicated, she knows instantly whether the line is busy. If it were not, the slightest pressure of her thumb and forefingers would enable her to insert the plug and complete the connection.

"You see," she smilingly added, "it really is easier to complete the connection than it is to report to the subscriber that the line is busy, if it isn't busy."

"I see," said the lawyer, thoughtfully.

When you visit us, as we hope you will, you may desire to have this operation explained. Many found it interesting during Telephone Week. We believe you will be interested in this and in many other phases of our work. If you will let the Manager or Chief Operator know in advance of your coming, we can arrange with our Service Committees for volunteers who will be glad to do escort duty and explain any details of your telephone service. We'll be glad to see you any week day, preferably in the afternoon.

MINISTER TAKES STAND ON BOXING AND OTHER SPORT

Kittery Clergyman Says Boxing Necessary to Develop Red Blooded Young Men.

Kittery Point, Me., Dec. 15, 1921

Editor of Herald:

Kindly allow me space in your paper for a few words, not of self defense but to say something about the boxing in Kittery.

I sincerely hope that the Selectmen will not stop the harmless fun of the young men. The people that are opposed to this method of manly exercise must be ignorant of what it really is. I saw twelve young men at it the other night and did not see any blood. Nobody was knocked out. It did not seem brutal either.

I wonder if these people that want to stop this wholesome fun know that this last season's football list of injuries is ten men killed, 9 of them high school students, and we don't know how many hundred or thousand are crippled and hurt. There is nothing done to stop football. I know it to be a fact, for the young man was teacher in my Sunday school that he was hit in the back of his head with a base ball last summer and hurt so that we all felt very much alarmed for a few days while he lay in a serious condition.

Basket ball is what you might call a tough game. So much so many of the colleges do not have it because of the dangers involved.

Yet ministers, members of the churches, and nearly all people say nothing against or about the game.

In fact, the colleges are on the look out in the preparatory schools for husky material for their football and base ball teams.

Again the boys in the training camps and on the ships and in France had boxing bouts conducted by ministers, chaplains, Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross workers.

I sincerely hope that you won't stop it. Give the young fellows a chance to learn the manly art of self defense. I firmly believe that a fully developed, red-blooded young man will have a cleaner mind than a sickly sentimental, slothful sissie kind of a boy.

I believe many of the men in Kittery are with me in this attitude. If you are determined to shut it down, before you do so, let us have a public hearing and a show down.

Sincerely yours for a clean, healthy manhood.

JOHN GRAHAM.

GIVEN SHOWER BY FRIENDS

The home of Mrs. H. J. Wentworth, Kittery, was the scene of a most convivial gathering on Tuesday evening last, when a miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Pauline Hobbs by her co-workers, the Misses Bessie Jennings and Ona Thurber.

Miss Hobbs was received by seventeen of her associates from the Navy Yard Supply Department and Portsmouth. The parlor was illuminated with red and green candles. The shower basket represented a large fish and contained many beautiful and useful gifts, consisting of silver, cut glass and linen, for the bride-to-be, as well as favors for those present.

After the gifts had been admired the party adjourned to the dining room which was tastefully decorated with green and gold crepe paper. The place cards were in the form of umbrellas full of orange blossoms. The bride's cake graced the center of the table which was laden with good things to please the appetite of the most fastidious person. The cake was iced in white and pink, bearing a representation of the bride, groom and flower girl. The guest of honor cut the cake and much merriment was caused by the discovery of the ring, thimble and coin. The hostesses served sandwiches and hot chocolate, ice cream and cake, assorted nuts and candies.

A social hour was enjoyed after which those present returned to their respective homes. Miss Hobbs is the recipient of the best wishes of many friends and a large circle of acquaintances.

SNOW STORM ONE OF BEAUTY IN THE WOODS

The snow storm of Monday and Tuesday brought a greater fall of snow than was anticipated in the city. Outside of the city the snow was from eight to ten inches and it was one of the prettiest storms for years. Trees were loaded to the breaking point with heavy snow which clung to the branches all of Wednesday. The pine and trees of that kind were especially heavily laden and they presented a magnificent picture in the woods.

The snow was heavy enough so that it caused more damage to trees, for many branches were broken off and the telephone and telegraph lines were again damaged, but not to the extent of the storm in November. Outside of the city it is splendid sleighing.

PAGEANT GIVEN BY DR. OSBORNE

"The India Mass Movement," a beautiful Oriental pageant, was presented before a large audience at the Methodist church Wednesday evening by Dr. Melville B. Osborne of India, assisted by the young people of the church, dressed in the costumes of India.

Surely no one who attended the pageant will soon forget the impression made, for an hour and a half the audience sat spell bound listening to the appeal made by Dr. Osborne, twenty-seven years a missionary in India.

He took the character of Chandra or Mayor of a town of 25,000 people who wanted to accept Christianity and were calling for a preacher to teach them. At first their plea was refused because there was no one to send. A Mohammedan priest often comes and urges the Chandra to accept his religion which gives peace, plenty and many wives. Chandra goes with him. Then a cablegram is received from Methodist headquarters in America saying that the Centenary money will provide a missionary. Chandra is called back and made to understand that he may have a preacher for his people.

Dr. Osborne was putting forth portrayal of the character of the Chandra both by inspired action and reciting transported the audience, in fact, to far away India. He was finely supported by Mr. Dodo a student from Boston University Theological School, who represented a Missionary, by James H. Smith who took the part of a Mohammedan priest, by Dr. Tasker who represented him, a native preacher, and by the chorus of thirty young people.

Miss Pauline Drake accompanied at the piano. All were in native Indian costumes and after only two hours with Dr. Osborne before the pageant was given—entered with great spirit into everything required of them. People from adjoining towns were in the audience which practically filled the church.

Dr. Osborne was born in India and the son of a missionary. He has been engaged in missionary work for twenty-seven years. He is presenting the pageant in many different cities, working under the board of foreign missions of the Methodist church.

VALUABLE INFORMATION FOR THOSE WHO PAY INCOME TAX

Collector John H. Fitzgerald of the Internal revenue for the New Hampshire district has issued the following information on the income tax:

To avoid error in the preparation of their returns and other difficulties with the Bureau of Internal Revenue, taxpayers are advised to carefully note the changes and when they become effective.

The excess profits tax is repealed as January 1, 1922. The rates for 1921 are unchanged.

The surtax rates for the calendar year 1921 are unchanged and range from one per cent on the amount of net income between $5,000 and $6000 to 65 per cent on the amount of net income in excess of $1,000,000. For the calendar year 1922 the surtax rates range from one per cent on the amount of net income between $5000 and $10,000 to 50 per cent on the amount by which the net income exceeds $200,000.

The exemption allowed for a dependent is increased from $200 to $400. Married persons living with husband or wife and heads of families are allowed a personal exemption of $2500 (instead of $2000) unless the net income is in excess of $5000. In such case, no personal exemption is allowed. The act provides that in connection with the reduction of the personal exemption from $2500 to $2000 a credit is provided in the case of a citizen or resident of the United States, which is intended to increase the tax which would be payable if the exemption were $2,000 but more than the excess of the net income in excess of $5000 is to overcome the disadvantage in the case of two taxpayers one of which is just within the $5000 exemption and the other just above the $5000 exemption.

Income received from certain personal service corporations is taxed at the rate of 50 per cent. The income tax on corporations for the calendar year 1922 and thereafter is increased from 10 to 12½ per cent. The $2000 exemption credit to the owners of personal service corporations whose net income is $25,000 or less is repealed.

Many persons are under the impression that the taxes on tobacco, snuff, cigars, cigarettes, liquors, soft drinks, etc., monthly returns of which are required to be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue, are to be paid by the ultimate consumer. This is not correct. These taxes remain in force until the end of the calendar year 1921.

No change is made in the tax on admissions, except that after January 1, 1922, the following taxes are to be imposed: On motor boats, motor yachts, pleasure boats and sea planes, dues, initiation fees and membership charges, 10 per cent; on electric fans, thermos bottles, fur articles, pleasure boats and sea planes, dues, initiation fees and membership charges, 10 per cent; on cameras (unless sold for more than $100), toilet articles, medicines and numerous articles of apparel.

On and after January 1, 1922 the tax on the sale of automobile trucks, motorcycles, bicycles, sporting goods, firearms, shells, cartridges, pistols, revolvers, portable electric lamps, fishing rods, golf clubs, golf balls, golf bags, golf caddies, golf clothing, golf gloves, golf shoes, golf stockings, golf tees, golf umbrellas, golf watches, golf wrist watches, golf wrist watch bands, golf wrist watch straps, golf wrist watch bracelets, golf wrist watch chains, golf wrist watch fobs, golf wrist watch guards, golf wrist watch pins, golf wrist watch rings, golf wrist watch ribbons, golf wrist watch cases, golf wrist watch crystals, golf wrist watch movements, golf wrist watch dials, golf wrist watch hands, golf wrist watch bezels, golf wrist watch backs, golf wrist watch stems, golf wrist watch crowns, golf wrist watch springs, golf wrist watch screws, golf wrist watch jewels, golf wrist watch settings, golf wrist watch mainsprings, golf wrist watch balance wheels, golf wrist watch escapements, golf wrist watch pallets, golf wrist watch balance staffs, golf wrist watch hairsprings, golf wrist watch regulators, golf wrist watch barrels, golf wrist watch arbors, golf wrist watch pinions, golf wrist watch gears, golf wrist watch plates, golf wrist watch bridges, golf wrist watch cocks

RUSSIAN REDS PLAN TO MAKE WAR ON JAPAN

Moscow, Dec. 15—Warlike appeals have been issued to the Russian Bolshevik army and navy by Leon Trotzky, minister of war and marine. These appeals, sent out by wireless, demand increased preparedness for early action, and declare that Japan is trying to strengthen her Siberian front at the Washington Conference has launched an attack against the Far Eastern republic.

"Attempts to calm the world's conference by promises to recognize the rights of the imperial regime by armed intervention and grand loan concessions are useless if attacks of Russia continue with the aid of French and Japanese arms and gold," a proclamation addressed to the Polish, Rumanian and Finnish frontiers is quoted by the agencies. "While these have been committed, while hypocrisy speeches among disarmament were being made by capitalistic diplomats at Washington."

"The Bolshevik army" Trotzky declares, "must double its efforts so that it may be in readiness to defend Russian independence. The interests of the whole country must not slacken but must come to the aid of the army."

A dispatch from China says that China says that Japan, having failed at the Washington Conference to secure her demands on the Far Eastern republic, has permitted General Merkulov, head of the anti-Bolshevik Government at Vladivostok, to organize new armed forces to attack the republic. It is asserted Japan wants to show the necessity of continued armed intervention on the Pacific coast of Siberia.

Merkulov has been sent the munitions and war materials by the Command of the Soviet troops in the Amur region, it is said. Should Japanese troops are lost, withdrawn from the vicinity of the Far Eastern republic, the Soviet troops will reserve their freedom of action.

Whether or not the herald of an early Spring, the fact remains that the snake and frog calls of the Boston Commercials was much surprised upon being presented with a pair of glass willow, which was found by Charles N. Hemphill near his home in Bramdon, Me. Several of the lads had developed into full blooded while others were in the blossoming stage.

MUST MATCH THE MUTSU

Washington, Dec. 15—The Naval ratio issue is at a crucial stage today but there is every indication that the dreams as to impending favorably and some of the delegates believe a final solution will be reached at the Conference of the "Big Three" late today. The Japanese as before stated are ready to accept the American five-five-three ratio in addition to keeping the Mutsu and scrap instead of the older vessel. Similar concessions for the British and American navies would be required as an offset, and on such a arrangement all the technical details involved in one which is requiring considerable discussion. A British spokesman pointed out today that Hughes suggestion for retention of the Mutsu would result in the Japanese having two warships of the largest type, the Mutsu and the Nagato, then said the spokesman, the British and American would have to make a readjustment of the list if the five-five-three ratio was to be maintained. The British might have to build two more boats, and on the other hand the Japanese might have to scrap some additional ships of the older types in order to maintain the ratio.

SATISFACTION

There's a whole lot of satisfaction in getting your money's worth. The thrifty housewife will travel a great many miles during the year, to effect small savings on household necessities. Yet, when buying these necessities, this same thrifty housewife, attracted by the display advertising of stores who would create the impression of being charitable institutions, will contract for hundreds of dollars' worth of merchandise without even considering the commonsense principles that govern her everyday purchases. An investigation of our low rent prices will quickly convince you that large savings are possible.

TOBOGGAN CHUTE COMPLETED AT COUNTRY CLUB

The fall of snow, it was eight or more inches at the Country Club, was just what was needed to complete the toboggan chute at the club. The construction was completed on Wednesday and the work of making the runway of snow was started and some of the members enjoyed the tobogganing on Wednesday afternoon. It will be ready for service by Saturday.

The work of icing up the chute and smoothing out the entire slide will take a day or two, but with cool weather it will be quick work. The slide as now built will give a running distance of six or seven hundred yards, plenty long enough to walk back from.

While the chute will be in operation as soon as possible the club will not hold the coming carnival until Monday December 26. It is also hoped by that time that a good ski jump will be arranged for and possibly the skating rink in operation, although the heavy snow is hindering the skating program. The toboggan chute was built by Joseph Randall and it is on skids so that in the spring it can be drawn over out of the way on golf. It is very substantially built and braced.

Winter sports here as well as all over the northern part of New England are being made very popular and there is a great interest among the Country Club members in the program arranged for the club.

With the Jolee Concert Company at Freeburn's Hall tonight. Concert 8. Dancing after the concert. Dance music by Marden's Orchestra. Admission 50c plus 5c war tax; includes concert and dancing.

Bright lights
A crowded hall
A noisy hum of voices in expectation
And some intent on watching a door
It seems I hear
To wait
And suddenly the brightest lights go out.
A dim one only is left by the piano
Softly the door opens
A man in evening dress steps out
He looks about
He walks slowly to the footlights
Then
He smiles
It is he
Crawford
The vast audience bursts into applause
He bows
And smiles again
His smile is only a signal for cheers
The audience seems unable to control itself
Their favorite is before them
Immaculate as ever
Calm and serene
And friendly
The heart of humanity in his smile
Then
He begins to play
Stillness reigns
Softly, at first
As though not quite sure
And then
Louder
Birds sing
Mothers lull their babes to sleep
Rivulets flow bubbling down a hillside
The Church bells chime
It rains
